VOCÉANE

VOCÉANE adopts international patented technology developed by Activen XEP-018 in New Jersey, USA, and bio-marine cone snails (Conus consors)

Create an all-natural conopeptide solution, known as the "Natural BOTOX botulinum toxin " and completely organic with no side effects. Conopeptide is an all-natural biomimetic peptide, imitating the μ conotoxin in Conotoxin. It can effectively inhibit the muscle contraction, relax the expression muscles, and quickly remove wrinkles.

Biologically, it can serve as a regulator of neuromuscular transmission, an effective and selective blocker of the voltage-gated sodium channel Nav 1.4, thereby allowing application area to achieve significant lifting and smoothing effect naturally without side effects.

What are the solutions to facial relaxation?

Chemical method: BOTOX

Many women that love to be beautiful probably know that botox can thin the face, eliminate wrinkles, and make them look younger, but they do not know that botox is one of the most toxic and lethal bacteria.

Incorrect application on the muscles around the eyes, botox penetrates the eyelid muscles, which may cause the eyelids to sag, or improper doses and administration can cause stiff and asymmetrical expressions.

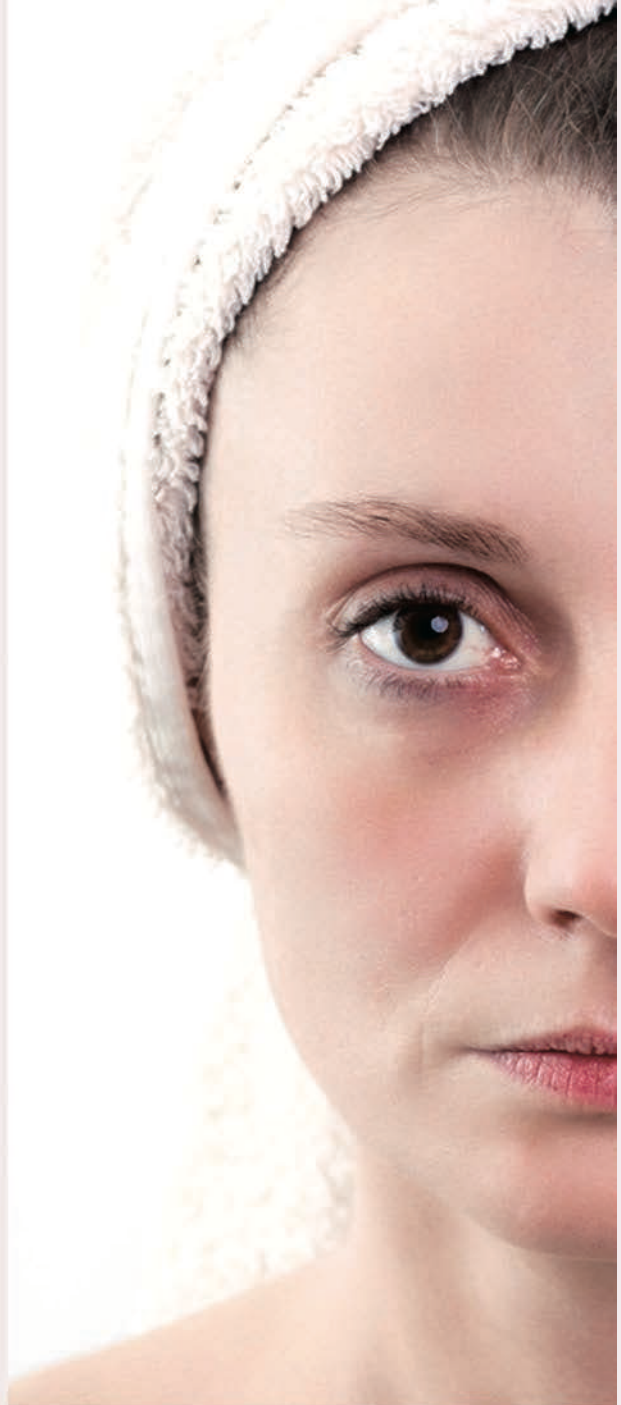

If injected regularly, the body will produce antibodies, which will make the effect shorter and shorter, increasing the number of injections and doses will be required but, excessive amounts may also cause facial paralysis and even death. If the injection fails, the consequences are no less than disfigurement.

Pseudoalteromonas
Exopolysaccharides

This is the latest invention in the world today, a biotech alternative to hyaluronic acid, which imitates a marine bacteria (Pseudoalteromonas) that has the moisture retention capability.

Instantly increase skin hydration with a long-lasting effect, and it can also significantly reduce skin roughness and wrinkles.

Alteromonas Ferment Extract

Skin conditioner, bacteria extracted from seawater form a simulated barrier on the skin surface to resist urban pollutants and haze and have strong moisture retention.

Eucommia Ulmoides Bark Extract

The loss of elasticity in collagen between dermal cells under the skin is the cause of skin aging. Eucommia bark can delay the aging of the proprotein, accelerate the metabolism of collagen protein, and improve the ability of collagen protein synthesis, thereby preventing or delaying skin wrinkling and aging, increase skin radiance.
